

How Do You Evaluate and Choose Complex Leasing Software ?

The team at XeC has created a functional scorecard system or 'gap analysis' that takes into account the unique interaction of your operation's business processes.

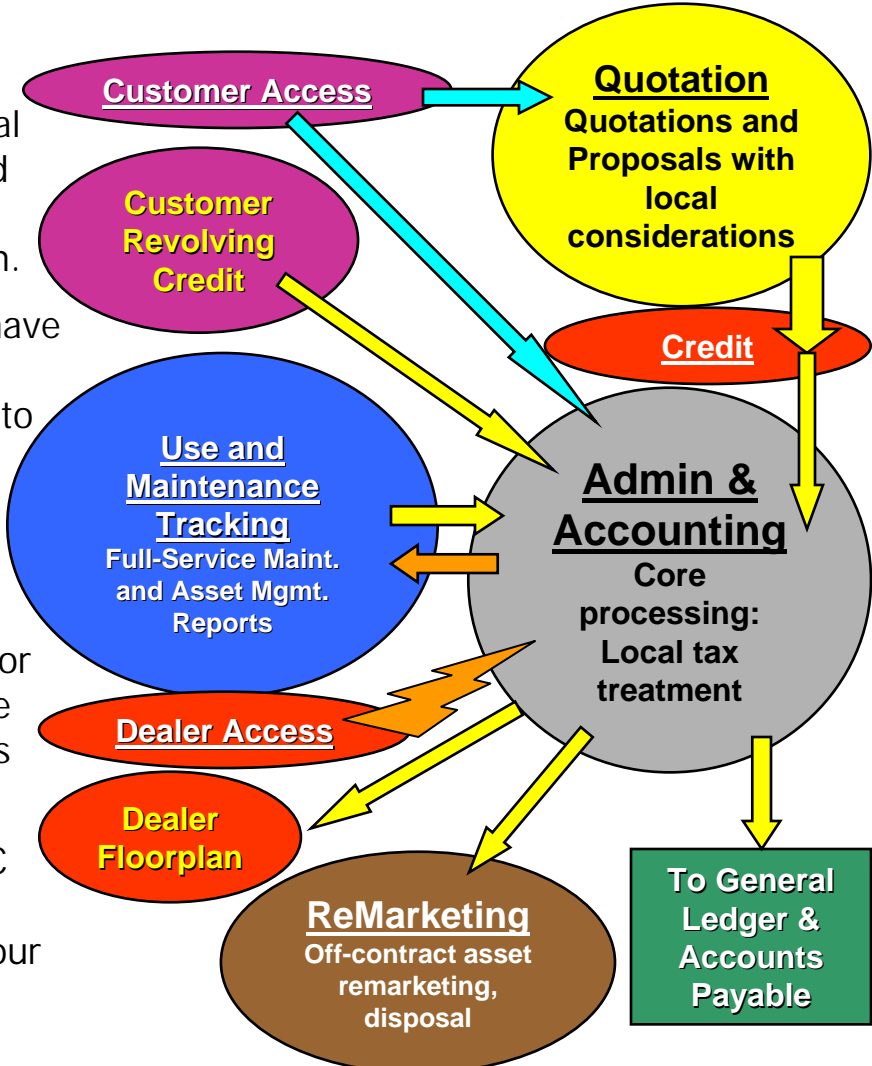

Experience Counts

Leasing is complex. Many general consulting firms lack the detailed understanding or "hands on" experience in a leasing operation.

Since 1983, XeC professionals have worked with 451 equipment and vehicle clients around the world to select, implement, and improve leasing software systems

Based on our vast experience inside such operations, XeC has created a Functional Scorecard for evaluating leasing systems in the context of the finance company's business processes.

The tool 'FS4LS' is used by XeC consultants to identify the best technology and process fit for your operation.
